PROJECT DIRECTOR • FACILITATOR • SPEAKER

*Strengthening Organizations
by Enabling Individuals*

*"She is prepared,
professional, sincere and genuine."*

Jane McDade is a facilitator, project director and speaker with The Pacific Institute. She first became involved with The Pacific Institute as a client. Realizing the value of the course material and the positive impact it had in her own life, Jane made a career change to become a Project Director. In addition to facilitating the Imagine 21 ~ Fast Track To Change™ curriculum to clients, Jane also facilitates Leader Facilitator Education, Cultural Consensus Building, Ethics and Organizational Success and Thought Patterns for High Performance Business®.

As a facilitator, Jane brings passion, focus and dedication to the Imagine 21™ curriculum. "I believe that it is important to enjoy what you do." says Jane. "And, I love this curriculum and the opportunity to present it."

Jane has facilitated Imagine 21™ in Canada and the United States to small, family-owned businesses and large organizations. Jane's sensitivity to every group allows her to intuitively meet the needs of participants in her presentations.

An accomplished speaker, Jane has addressed audiences from the business world, health care and social services.

Prior to her involvement with The Pacific Institute, Jane received a diploma in automotive marketing at Georgian College in Barrie, Ontario and subsequently a Bachelor of Management degree from Northwood University in Texas. The eight scholarships awarded to Jane during her studies reflect her passion for excellence – a passion demonstrated today as she lives the principles of Imagine 21™.

After graduation, Jane worked for seven years in the automotive industry where she developed valuable skills in sales, organizational leadership and customer service.

Jane has also demonstrated leadership on committees with United Way, Grant MacEwan Community College, the Canadian Automotive Institute Advisory Council and her church vestry. Jane is married and lives in Edmonton, Alberta.
